

INVITATION

FIRST MALALA ZINDABAD CONVENTION 2012

A REVOLUTIONAL THOUGHT TOWARS RIGHT OF EDUCATION

November 10, 2012

INTERNATIONAL MALALA DAY

International Human Rights Observer (IHRO) Pakistan has decided to celebrate the “International MALALA DAY on November 10, 2012 at Islamabad by arranging “Malala Zindabad Convention”. IHRO has taken this historical initiative after the call and launching “I Am Malala” website by Mr.Gordon Brown, United Nations Special Envoy on Global education.

IHRO is one of the human rights advocacy, research and monitoring national , international NGO which enjoys Special Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations and working together with Governments, United Nations and other International institutions to promote and protect the basic fundamental human rights of the masses declared in the universal charter of human rights of United Nations to build a global village of lasting peace, social, and economic justice and development for the 21st century.

By promoting the International Malala Day, IHRO believes that it will be a great initiative to realize and implement the agenda of the Millennium Development Goals of the United Nations adopted in 2000.The international community committed to ensuring primary education for all children, boys and girls alike, all over the world. It is unlikely that this goal will be met as education is still a dream, rather than reality for 61 million children around the world. The shooting of Malala has put the struggle those children face every day back at the top of the international agenda and the public debate. With the new website “I am Malala” and call for international Malala day, United Nations is trying to keep the spotlight on education and remind the international community of the pledge they made 12 years ago.

You are invited to attend and support the “International Malala Day .Your participation will be another great and bold step to strengthen and encourage the cause.

Please confirm your participation as soon as possible due to shortage of time. Contact for registration through e-mail: conference2012@ihro.org.pk or Khalid_ihro@yahoo.com

Looking forward,

With regards,
